Our Alumni

Our Crimson Tide would be incomplete without a section devoted to those who have bestowed honor upon their Alma Mater by the application of her principles and teachings to the problems of daily life.

All our Alumni have proved their loyalty The spirit of co-operation which characterized them as students has carried over after graduation and has manifested itself in ready response whenever S. C. has sent out an S. O. S.

Manifestly it will be impossible to mention all who deserve a place in these pages. We have space for only a few But to the many whose names or faces do not appear in this issue may we address this word of appreciation of their "plain devotedness to duty" which will so surely count toward the making of a better world.